Boy Scout Drive Ready to Start In This City

Other Communities of County Have Pledged Their Quotas—Kingston's Quota $6,000 a Year for Two Years — Campaign Organization Announced.

A meeting of the campaign organization for the Boy Scouts was held at the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at which time prospect cards were distributed and final instructions given to the workers. Great confidence was indicated and it is believed the full quota for Kingston in the county campaign for Scouting will be subscribed by Friday of this week.

Beginning on Friday of this week at 6 p. m., report meetings will be held at Von Berg's, at which it is expected all the workers will be present. These report dinner meetings will be held daily until the end of the campaign.

Chairman Charles Ramsey is confident that the citizens of Kingston will meet the obligation that has been placed on them, and the quota for this city of $6,000 a year for a period of two years will be raised, and Scouting in this county placed upon a solid footing. The local committees in the other communities of the county have pledged their quotas and it remains for Kingston to assume its responsibility in this very important work for the boys.

Folders explaining the need for financial assistance for the Boy Scout movement in this county have been delivered by Scouts to all who are on the prospect list and it is felt by the committee that this explanation will suffice to bring such a generous response that the full amount desired will be subscribed. During the past six months the Ulster County Boy Scout Council has kept its expenses well within its income and during this period reduced outstanding obligations by $1,400. The Council, however, has been handicapped in the work and many plans for the extension of this worth while work have been postponed until the necessary funds are available. The public is assured that the money it contributes will be wisely expended and insofar as is possible, the privileges of Scouting will be extended to the 2,500 boys of the county who are eligible to membership in this organization.

COURT GRANTS DR. ROSELLI'S REQUEST TO CARRY REVOLVER

Spurred to action by several anonymous communications advising him that it would be well for him to leave the United States, Dr. Bruno Roselli, head of the department of Italian at Vassar College, obtained Monday from County Judge Charles W. H. Arnold in Poughkeepsie a permit to carry a revolver. While no actual threats of personal violence have been made, Dr. Roselli declared Monday that he wanted to be ready for any eventuality, particularly since he has to do a good deal of traveling and frequently returns to Poughkeepsie from speaking engagements late at night. Dr. Roselli is well known in Kingston, where he has delivered a number of lectures.

ELECTION RETURNS AT COURT HOUSE TUESDAY

The Republican county committee has made arrangements with the Western Union to install a special leased wire in the court room at the court house on Wall street Tuesday so that election returns may be heard there that evening by the general public interested in the outcome of the election.

Kunst in Collision at Catskill.

Kersey Kunst of this city while driving his Buick car in Catskill on Sunday morning collided with the car of Frank E. Mayer of Catskill. Mr. Kunst was driving down Bridge street near Franklin when he applied his brakes. As the pavement was wet his car skidded with the car of Mr. Mayer. The Buick of Mr. Kunst received a beat fender while the other auto, which was a Chevrolet, had a twisted axle and damaged fender.

Hall Grand Jury Squabble Settled

Foreman Announces That Grand Jury Will Meet Prosecutors—Tilt Will Not Delay Trial of Mrs. Hall, Her Brothers and Cousin.

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 26 (AP).—The clash which threatened to result in an unusual squabble between a grand jury and a prosecutor has subsided and the Hall-Mills case today resolved itself into inactivity until November 3, when the four persons indicted in connection with the slayings will be brought to trial.

The widening breach between Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson and the grand jury was closed suddenly last night when W. Percival Snyder, foreman, announced that the jury would "meet Mr. Simpson at any particular time he may elect."

This was at variance with the defiant statement of Sunday night, when Mr. Snyder, upon learning that the prosecutor had ordered a suspension of indictment proceedings against alleged accessories and cancelled subpoenas for witnesses, declared that the grand jury was an independent body, and would, if necessary, call its own witnesses.

Mrs. Joliff, the only woman member of the jury, announced she would ask the prosecutor to explain stories in a newspaper which quoted Simpson as saying the grand jury was "fixed".

In making his announcement that the grand jury would hear only Mr. Simpson's witnesses, Mr. Snyder hinted of an investigation of the investigators. "I want to see justice done," he said. "If those already indicted are guilty well and good, but if they are not, there may be an investigation later on."

The tilt with the Somerset grand jury will not delay the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, and a cousin, Henry Carpender, set for November 3, Mr. Simpson said.

Plans for exhuming the body of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills are at a standstill due to illness of Patrick Hayes, detective in charge of that angle of the case.

Selecting Jurors For Boy's Trial

Charles Wise Declares His Son Is Innocent of the Crime of Killing Miss Nina Vilona, Fifty-Year-Old Mount Vernon Pianist.

Monticello, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—Only two jurors had been accepted when the trial of 16-year-old Charles Wise for the murder of Miss Nina Vilona, a fifty-year-old Mount Vernon, N. Y., pianist, entered its second day in the county court house here this morning.

Miss Vilona's body was found in a creek near Bradley, weighted down with stones on July 10, last, and young Wise was accused of the murder when it was found that he had been near the scene and was in possession of a revolver whose rifling coincided with the marks on the bullet taken from the woman's body. Wise asserts his innocence and the state has produced no motive for the crime.

The courtroom was packed again this morning, and hundreds were turned away by officers stationed at the foot of the stairs to keep out those only morbidly interested in the case.

Would Give Life For Son.

Charles Wise of Peekskill, father of the defendant, was present at court. He refused to have newspaper reporters take his picture.

"My boy," he said, "is innocent. I know he would not lie. Could I frame up evidence to convict myself in his place. I would gladly do it. When my wife was taken sick, my children were taken by the society and Charlie went to live with a blind minister for two years. He learned the Bible and believes in it. If he had been hunting and accidentally shot this woman, I know he would not lie to me. I know he will be acquitted. God would not let him be convicted."

When court convened yesterday there were 139 jurors in attendance. Young Wise made his first appearance in the court room accompanied by Undersheriff Darling. When being brought from the jail to the court house, he faced a battery of newspaper reporters and pulled his cap down over his eyes.

Sell $10,000 of City Bonds at Par

City Treasurer William C. DeWitt sold $10,000 of fire department bonds at public auction at the city hall this morning. The bonds were sold at par. Half were bid in by the Kingston Savings Bank and the other half by the Ulster County Savings Institution. The proceeds will be used by the fire board to purchase necessary equipment for the fire department.

Four Compensation Hearings Here.

Referee J. J. Burns of the state compensation commission will hold four hearings in Kingston during November at the court house on Wall street. The hearings will be held November 4, 15, 26 and 29.

Red Cross Roll Call Starts Nov. 11

Ulster County Chapter Appoints Divisional Chairmen for City and County in Preparation of Annual Roll Call, Which Begins on Armistice Day—Officers Elected.

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, held at the Supreme court chambers in the court house Monday evening, officers for the ensuing year were chosen and initial plans for the coming Red Cross Roll Call made.

The officers elected were: Chairman, Delancey N. Mathews; first vice-chairman, Mayor Morris Block; second vice-chairman, Mrs. M. B. Downer of Woodstock; third vice-chairman, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck; secretary-treasurer, E. E. Oughcltree.

The next vitally important thing for the Red Cross to do will be to put over the biggest Roll Call that has ever been undertaken. The reason is plain. There is no reason to suppose that storms and other calamities are exclusively confined to Florida and the south or to any section of the country. In time of such catastrophy of whatever sort, an organized, efficient local Red Cross may mean the saving of countless lives right on the spot, as well as offering an efficient organization through which to help any other suffering community.

Red Cross Always Ready.

The misery attending earthquake, flood, tornado, fire and epidemic is today greatly lessened everywhere because of the Red Cross. A large local membership offers not only funds with which to keep the organization in action during peace and plenty times, but it also offers a large body of people throughout the county ready for action as one unit in time of disaster. Yet a local chapter like the Ulster County Chapter would be of little avail were it not an integral part of the National organization which has at its immediate disposal all the machinery of relief to meet any emergency.

Divisional Chairmen.

In order to make this year's Roll Call extensive and comprehensive, reaching all of the people of the county, great care was taken by the executive committee in appointing the Roll Call chairmen who are: In the city, Mrs. Thomas Hayes, chairman of all that section above the West Shore railroad and Mrs. John Herrick, a Gold Star Mother, chairman of all that section below the West Shore railroad. District Attorney Frederick G. Traver was appointed chairman of the county outside of the city. The supplies are already in the possession of Secretary-Treasurer E. E. Oughcltree, at the Supreme court chambers, and it is planned to have everything in readiness to energetically begin the Roll Call on Armistice Day, November 11.

Banner For Every Home.

The Red Cross executive committee calls upon the citizens of Ulster county both in and outside the city to see to it this year that every house in the county boasts at least one Red Cross Roll Call banner, and where possible several extra crosses for each member of the family. Every available means of publicity will be used to further the Roll Call, but the best results will come if the people of the county take a genuine pride in making Ulster county a banner Red Cross county this year. As the Roll Call was the vital matter at issue Monday evening, Chairman Mathews was empowered to appoint standing committees of the chapter at his convenience and the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. FOREIGN BOARD

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP).—Curtailment of missionary activities in the Far Eastern zone, including China, Japan, Korea and Asiatic Russia and notable expansion of the program for South and Central America were suggested today in the annual report of the foreign board of the Y. M. C. A. to the opening session of the national council's executive conference.

Because of the progress of the native movement in China and adjacent countries, the American leadership no longer is held of paramount importance in that region, while in the Spanish speaking countries to the south, said the report, recent developments have opened a challenging opportunity to the "Y" organizations of the United States.

Rumanian Queen At Niagara Falls

For a Few Hours Before Moving into Canada on the Second Leg of Journey—Is Tendered Warm Reception at Buffalo.

Queen Marie's Special Train, Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—The world's greatest waterfall drew the attention of Queen Marie today for a few hours before the Rumanian royal party moved into Canada on the second leg of the trans-continental journey.

The queen boarded her train immediately after a dinner and reception in Buffalo tendered by the city last night, arriving here at 2 o'clock this morning.

Because of the late hour at which the queen retired and efforts to safeguard her health, an early breakfast and side trips in the neighborhood of the Falls were abandoned.

The queen's health is good except for a cold, which has shown much improvement. At Buffalo last night the queen said reports that she had been recalled home were "a lot of nonsense".

A new bit of jewelry had a place today in the queen's gem box, a jade bracelet with a Buffalo pendant, the gift of the city of Buffalo. It was accepted by Her Majesty as a souvenir of her visit and reception, which she said she deeply appreciated. She expressed the hope that she might some time pay another visit.

The queen's remarks at the dinner were disappointingly brief to radio listeners who had understood that she would deliver an address similar to that broadcast while she was in New York. A microphone, leading to Station WGR, stood before Marie's place at the banquet table. It's discovery by the queen's advisors was followed by their suggestion that she avoid impromptu radio talks.

Inside Story of Special Session

Called to Act on $6,500,000 State Park Appropriation Bill Disclosed By Governor—Blames Wadsworth For Defeat of Bill.

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—The inside story of why a special session of the 1925 legislature was called to act on a $6,500,000 state park appropriation bill, kept a closely guarded secret for more than a year, has been disclosed by Governor Smith.

After the Republican legislature of last year refused for the second time to accede to the governor's wishes that the measure be approved in order to carry out the state's park program he told newspapermen that on a given day he would tell the story of "how Westchester bit the dust." On the date set, however, he declined to amplify the title of the proposed narrative.

Last night, carrying his campaign for re-election into this Westchester community, the governor related the story, laying his action in convening the special session to Senator Seabury C. Mastick, Republican of Westchester, and the defeat of the bill to the influence of United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Republican candidate for re-election.

"Early last summer," said the governor, "the chairman of the State Park Council and I went down to look over some park lands on Long Island; on the way back, Senator Mastick expressed the wish to ride back with us, and we agreed.

"He said that he was convinced that the legislature controlled by members of his own party had made a mistake at the regular session in defeating the park program, and that if a special session were called, he would support the measure. This was later confirmed by William L. Ward, Republican leader of the county.

"It was on the strength of this promise that I called the legislature into extraordinary session to act on the park bill. When the time came to introduce the measure supported by the Council of Parks, I called in Senator Mastick. He sat down in a chair in my office and bowed his head and said he couldn't do it.

"Some hidden power of evil had gotten to him and to Ward and they wouldn't do a thing to support the measure then. The two of them laid down like a couple of skunks. Neither had the courage, the sense or the justice to resist the hidden power, and I am reasonably certain that the Republican candidate for re-election as United States senator put the final pressure on both."

Candidates Will Speak Saturday

Ogden L. Mills, Republican candidate for governor, and James W. Wadsworth, Jr., the Republican candidate for United States Senator, will address a big Republican mass meeting at the Auditorium Theatre on Pine Grove avenue on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. This will wind up the upstate campaign of both men who will close their campaign Saturday night by addressing a monster rally in New York city.

Wadsworth Views On Agriculture

Senator Answers Inquiry of Ulster County Voter and Summarizes Briefly Some of the Legislation He Has Favored and Some He Has Opposed.

The following correspondence is self-explanatory:

Mt. Marion, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1926.
Hon. James W. Wadsworth, Jr.,
United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Sir:

As a member of the Farm Bureau, Dairymen's League and former member of the Grange, a man that is actively interested in agriculture, I am writing you for some information as to your stand on questions that directly concern agriculture in order that I may determine in my mind the advisability of supporting you in the coming election as United States Senator.

Your answer will greatly oblige,
Very truly yours,
H. CLINTON FINGER.

The Senator's Reply.

Weedsport, N. Y., Oct. 19, 1926.
Mr. H. Clinton Finger,
Mount Marion, N. Y.
My Dear Sir:

I have received your letter of the 1st inst., and while, of course, I am very busy in campaign work and, therefore, cannot give your various questions as complete answers as I could if time was not so limited, I beg to advise you as follows:

1. When both the Emergency Tariff Bill and the General Tariff Bill of 1922 were before the Congress I worked and voted to raise the tariff rates on agriculture products.

2. I heartily approve of the National Cooperative Marketing Law of 1922 and voted for and supported it.

3. I voted for the Voigt Filled Milk Bill which prohibited some milk condensing companies from taking out the butterfat and substituting cocoanut oil. I consider that this filled milk was a fraud on the consuming public, as well as a menace to the dairy industry.

4. I am not at present in favor of a revision of the tariff, but when it is revised I will as heretofore vote for tariff rates on farm products equal to the protection given other industries.

5. I am heartily in favor of the Lenroot-Taber Bill, which is to regulate importation of foreign milk and cream so as to require such milk and cream to be subjected to the same Board of Health rules as are the farmers of this state. I believe this is necessary both in the interests of the public health and to prevent the dairy farmers of this state from suffering unfair competition.

6. I heartily approve of the action of the President in raising the tariff rate on butter from eight cents to twelve cents a pound and favor raising the tariff rate on milk and cream to a point equal to that on butter, believing that this is necessary to preserve the American markets for American farmers and that in the end it is in the best interest of all the people.

7. I worked and voted for the present tariff on eggs and poultry products, which even yet do not measure the proper protection for the full development of the poultry industry in this country and I favor an increase in these tariffs.

8. I opposed the McNary-Haugen bill as being utterly unsound and calculated to take away from the farmer the right to run his own business and to confer that right upon the government. I opposed it because of the feature in it providing for the assessing back upon the farmer of a tax sufficient to meet the losses of the government in selling the surplus abroad. I opposed it because I do not believe in price fixing by the government or the control of the business by a Federal Bureaucracy. I think it would have done a very grave injury to agriculture generally. The bill was defeated.

9. I am impressed with the fact that farmers by self help through their cooperative marketing organizations are making steady progress in solving the agricultural problem, and it would be inconsistent with my entire record in the United States Senate for me to fail to support any future legislation necessary for the just protection of agricultural interests.

I believe that the protective tariff should be extended to the farmers in every way possible and also believe that year by year adequate tariff rates on farm products will be of increasing value to American farmers, and I believe that the Federal Government should enact all necessary laws to promote and encourage farmers in their cooperative marketing efforts.

I will appreciate it if you will write me from time to time as to the legislation you think necessary and assure you that such communications will receive my personal attention.

Very truly yours,
JAMES W. WADSWORTH, JR.

Ancient Ferry Line Still Runs.

Wright, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—A ferry line that was in use in 1783 is still taking passengers back and forth across Lake Champlain between this port and Orwell, Vt. The type of craft originally used, with its long sweeps, was replaced long ago by a motorboat.

Another Gang Warfare Killing.

Perrin, Tex., Oct. 26 (AP).—The bullet-riddled body of Burnett McQuay, 24, was found near here today in his coupe which had been fired upon from a machine gun last night. Officers believe it was another gang warfare killing.

Car Overturned, Killing Owner

Fatal Accident on Hurley Road Monday Afternoon Caused by Auto Skidding on Dry Pavement, Then Overturning.

Henry Pischa, 43 years old, was instantly killed in an automobile accident Monday afternoon. Mr. Pischa and Elmer Denman were returning home from Kingston in Mr. Pischa's Paige touring car when on the turn in the Kingston-Hurley road near the Elmendorf property, the car turned over. Denman, who jumped to the running board when the car started to skid, jumped clear of the wreck and was not injured.

At the time of the accident the car was evidently traveling at a fast clip. After turning completely around on the concrete roadway the car turned over, crushing the driver under the machine.

Killed Instantly.

His head was badly crushed and cut and death was immediate. At the point in the road where the accident happened there is a slight turn to the right before ascending the grade at the Elmendorf property. The concrete pavement at the time of the accident was dry.

Shortly after the accident happened, linemen in the employ of the New York Telephone Company came along and assisted in lifting the car from the dead man. Coroner Conner was called and Sheriff Wells notified. Sheriff Wells and Deputy Seth Jocelyn went to the scene and later Sergeant Cunningham went to the scene and conducted an investigation in connection with the sheriff's office.

Wife Notified by Coroner.

Coroner Conner took charge of the body and notified Mrs. Pischa, who resides in New York city. Mr. Pischa came to Ulster county a short time ago and took up farming on the Charles Snyder farm on the Hurley road. His New York address was 376 East 104th street.

No funeral arrangements were made pending the arrival of relatives from New York.

Mr. Pischa although a resident of this locality but a short time was well liked by his neighbors.

Klan's Part in Indiana Politics

Committee Hears Story of How Klan Was Ordered to Go Down the Line For Senator Watson In The Primary Campaign.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26 (AP).—With another engrossing chapter of Ku Klux Klan activity in Indiana politics written into its records, the Senate Campaign Funds Committee came here today from Kansas City to either carry the inquiry one step forward or close it at least until after the elections next Tuesday.

Whether testimony about the muddled situation in the Hoosier state was to be taken depended upon the condition of Mrs. Vivian Tracy Wheatcraft, vice-chairman of the Indiana State Republican Committee, who is in a hospital here for observation after a threatened attack of appendicitis.

Chairman Reed desired to question Mrs. Wheatcraft about the testimony at Kansas City yesterday of two newspaper correspondents, that she had told them she had organized a "poison squad" of women in Indiana to conduct a "whispering campaign" for Senator Watson during the Republican primary fight early this year.

In winding up its inquiry at Kansas City in a single day, the committee heard from former Indiana Klansmen a more detailed story of how the Klan was ordered to "go down the line" for Senator Watson in the primary campaign. The witnesses were Ralph B. Bradford of Crown Point and Wallace C. J. Granger of Logansport.

Bradford quoted both Walter F. Bossert and James Bolin, both of Indianapolis, as having said that Senator Watson had attended a conference at Washington of Ku Klan officials, at which Bossert's resignation as grand dragon was demanded and received.

Then the two witnesses described a meeting at Indianapolis last January, at which they declared Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard, had forced the selection of W. Lee Smith as Bossert's successor. They asserted that Dr. Evans "packed" the meeting in order to "put over" Smith, although he knew that 65 per cent of the accredited delegates favored a Major Hite of the Volunteers of America.

Chief Candidates Expected to Make Whirlwind Finish

Mills Charges Governor Has Traded the Sidewalks of New York—Smith Again Raps Hearst—Wadsworth Reiterates Stand on Prohibition.

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—The chief candidates in the race for governor and United States senator continued today their campaign in the Metropolitan district which is to last until the eve of election day.

Acerbities which have marked stump speeches upstate were unabated and a whirlwind finish is predicted. The issues under discussion between Governor Smith and Republican opponent, Ogden L. Mills, have narrowed to an alleged under standard milk supply of New York city and the governor's plan of state hydro-electric development.

Mr. Mills, invading his opponent's home territory, the East Side of New York, last night, accused the governor of having "traded the 'Sidewalks of New York' for a chance at the White House". He based the attack on the omission from the Democratic state platform of any recommendation of more liberal immigration rules under which families of naturalized citizens would be more readily admitted to this country. He said this was a part of a deal that Mayor Walker of New York had fixed up with southern leaders on his spring trip to the south.

Quits Politics for Milk.

Mr. Mills attacked Governor Smith's plan for hydro-electric development as "possessing all the vices of government and private ownership and the virtues of neither". Commenting on the governor's statement that Tammany Hall is a private society not engaged in politics, he said: "If Tammany Hall has quit politics they all must have gone into the milk business."

Speaking at Yonkers last night, Governor Smith insisted he had no power under the law to initiate the state-wide milk investigation Mr. Mills demands him to make, he said: "If Mr. Mills is the gentleman he holds himself out to be he will stop his tomfoolery."

The State Farm Bureau under Republican control alone has power to make such investigation, the governor said.

"I have seen some men in my time hungry for public office but none went so far as does Mills, unless it be Hearst himself," added the governor, who said the bad milk argument was devised by the New York publisher, who is backing Mills.

Wadsworth Reiterates Stand.

Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., seeking re-election as senator on Republican ticket, made several speeches yesterday reiterating his stand on the prohibition question and urging support for the election of Republican congressmen to continue the policies of President Coolidge, to which he attributed the prosperity of the country.

Wagner Charges Insincerity.

Robert F. Wagner, Democratic candidate for the United States senate, attacked the record of Mr. Wadsworth as "indefensible", alleging "he has been afraid to defend that record beofre the people." He declared Wadsworth's stand on the prohibition question "was insincere" as "having voted twice for the Volstead Act, he now promises for the sake of New York city votes to vote for its repeal," meanwhile appealing to the voters upstate "to return every one of the bone dry Republican congressmen."

Franklin W. Cristman Independent Republican candidate for the senate on a dry ticket, speaking in Elmira last night, said: "Wadsworth voted to seat Newberry and I imagine the whiskey interests want him to go back to help seat Vare."

HOUDINI'S CONDITION CONTINUES GRAVE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 26 (AP).—Harry Houdini, the magician, "reacted well" from his operation, performed yesterday, said a bulletin issued today by four attending physicians.

"Houdini passed a fairly comfortable night," said the bulletin, "and his condition this morning is satisfactory, but continues grave. His temperature was 102, his pulse 116 and respiration 28."

NEGRO HELD FOLLOWING FATAL SHOOTING

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—James Davis, 26, is held in the local jail pending an examination of a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of Clarence Scott, 20, early today following a shooting fray. Both are colored and have police records. The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel. Both men used guns. Davis, who the police say has confessed, was slightly wounded.

CHICAGO MOVIE HOUSES COOPERATE WITH OFFICIALS

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP).—Ninety-six neighborhood movie houses are cooperating with school and city officials to keep Chicago's gates on their hinges and the city generally intact Hallowe'en.

Teachers have 100,000 free tickets that will be exchanged for pledges to see a good picture show and quit it at night.

Lower 'Dead Line' In Employment

Richmond, Va., Oct. 26.—The "dead line" in employment has lowered to such an extent during the past forty years that "men over fifty find it difficult to get new jobs these days, if thrown out of employment, and if they do get new jobs it is usually at a much smaller pay" the Lutheran convention heard today during the report of the board of trustees of the National Lutheran Home for the Aged, Washington, D. C.

"The question of old age dependency is one of the pressing problems of the day and is becoming more and more acute," the board continued. "Many societies, many corporations, many insurance companies, many states, the Federal Government itself, have all attempted to deal with the situation, but it has not yet been put where it squarely belongs, upon society itself as a social obligation to be borne by all alike."

In an attempt to solve the problems of a dependent old age, the United Lutheran Church in America maintains eleven institutions, especially for the care of the aged, according to Rev G. L. Kieffer, statistical secretary, and two others which admit and care for the aged.

The present property valuation of the National Lutheran Home for the Aged is $125,000, but the Lutheran Synod of Maryland, meeting last May at Hagerstown, pledged an additional $60,000 to be paid within a period of five years, for the erection of another unit of the present building, in order to increase the capacity to admit a portion of the present waiting list.

Did Miss Jones Slash Mr. Lucas?

That Is Question Judge Shufeldt Will Be Called Upon to Decide—She Was Arrested on Charge of Assault—Hearing Set for Thursday.

The question of whether Miss Frances Jones, a negress, slashed Sam Lucas, a negro, with a weapon, presumably a razor, on Monday night at No. 15 West Strand will come up for determination in police court before Judge Shufeldt on Thursday, to which time the hearing was adjourned today. Sam is in the Kingston City Hospital with a nasty slash across the abdomen that required several stitches to close.

The police were notified Monday night of a fight at 15 West Strand and Officers Roedell and Murphy were rushed to the scene and placed Frances under arrest and hurried Lucas to the hospital.

Ten Days for Day.

Paul Day, a negro, arrested in the south yard of the West Shore railroad by Officer Tierney of the West Shore police force Monday evening, was sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

"Shingle Day" In Police Court

Ludwig Remingenski "Hung One" on His Wife's Eye—George Overt Decorated Bush's Eye, and Father-in-law Claimed Son-in-law Beat Him Up.

It was "Shingle Day" in police court today, with several fine specimens exhibited to Judge Shufeldt when the cases were called for trial.

Ludwig Remingenski of Hanratty street "hung a shingle" on his wife's eye and was arrested, charged with disorderly conduct, and after a trial was sentenced to ten days in jail by Judge Shufeldt. Mrs. Remigenski was in court with a badly discolored eye which she stated was the result of being struck by her husband.

George Overt, a negro, contributed to "Shingle Day" by decorating the eye of Nelson Bush, and was fined $25. Unable to pay his fine, he was committed to the county jail to remain one day for each dollar not paid.

John Ostrander of No. 122 Chambers street, was arrested Monday night at the family home by his father-in-law, John F. Sullivan, who claimed that John had beaten him up. John is held on a charge of assault in the third degree, and the hearing was adjourned to next Monday.

Downey Freed of Shooting Charge

Question of Who Shot Benjamin Freeman, Another Negro, in the Hand October 17 Is One Police Will Try to Solve—Sydnor Held For Grand Jury.

Following a shooting affray at the Dwyer Brothers brickyard at Steep Rocks on Sunday evening, October 17, the police arrested Alexander Downey and William Sydnor, both negroes, and removed Benjamin Freeman, a negro shot in the hand, to the Kingston City Hospital for treatment. Downey was charged with assault in the first degree and Sydnor with having a revolver in his possession without a permit.

The hearings in both cases had been adjourned to this morning in police court by Judge Shufeldt at which time Attorney Robert G. Groves appeared for Downey. Several witnesses were examined and at the close Attorney Groves moved for a dismissal of the complaint against Downey as no evidence had been produced connecting him with the shooting. Judge Shufeldt granted the motion and Downey was discharged.

Sydnor was held to await the action of the grand jury on the charge of illegally having a gun in his possession and bail was fixed at $300.

Freeman, the negro who was shot, last week was sentenced to jail for fifteen days for hurling a lighted lamp at another negro at Steep Rocks.

Ulster Dairymen Name Delegates

Four Delegates and Alternates Chosen to Attend State-Wide Meeting of Dairymen at Utica—Interesting Talk on Farm Prices.

The county-wide Dairymen's meeting held at New Paltz on Saturday was attended by about forty dairymen from all parts of the county and members of all the various marketing groups in operation here. The meeting was called to order by Farm Bureau Manager Wigsten who briefly explained the purpose of the meeting as being to elect delegates to represent Ulster county dairymen at a state-wide mass meeting of dairymen in Utica on Wednesday, October 27. C. C. DuMond of Ulster Park was unanimously elected chairman of the meeting and responded with a brief acceptance speech. He then called for nominations for secretary, F. M. Wigsten being nominated and elected.

On introduction by the chairman, V. B. Hart of the Farm Management Department at Cornell responded with a very interesting talk on farm prices. Prices received for farm products have been higher since the war than for a five year period preceding the war, stated Professor Hart. This might make it seem that farmers have been enjoying prosperity. The only thing the matter with the picture is the fact that while farm prices have been high, other commodities which farmers have to buy have been relatively higher, making a wide gap between the farm income and outgo.

Added to this is the fact that the price of farm labor has been one hundred per cent above the pre-war price. Farmers have been hard put to keep on top under these conditions. With maps and charts, percentage figures and price curves, Professor Hart was able to show how this "out of adjustment" of the farm income has occurred after every big war and how after several years a state of normalcy was eventually reached. The future is brighter, concluded Professor Hart.

Following this very excellent talk nominations were placed in order for delegates to attend the Utica meeting. The secretary read a letter from C. M. Slack of the committee on arrangements which alloted four delegates to Ulster county. The following were elected: Fred Briehl of Gardiner, Fred Stang of Wallkill, Russell Trowbridge of Kyserike, A. H. Hart of Stone Ridge. Alternates were elected as follows: for Briehl, Charles Clodi; for Stang, Lester Harvey; for Trowbridge, Jacob Barley; for Hart, John Schoonmaker. Fred Briehl and Charles Clodi are members of the Wallkill Sheffields Producers Association. Fred Stang and Lester Harvey are members of the Dairymen's League. Russell Trowbridge and Jacob Barley deliver to the independent creamery at Kyserike, A. H. Hart and John Schoonmaker are members of the Dairymen's League.

The meeting adjourned after voting to hold another meeting within three weeks after the Utica meeting at which time the delegates will be called on for a complete report.

Next Community Meet at Accord

Once again the merchants and in fact all residents of Kingston are invited to attend a community meeting. This time it will be held at Accord in the I. O. O. F. Hall on Wednesday, October 27, at 8 o'clock. This is another of the cooperative county-city meetings at which the Kingston Chamber of Commerce puts on the program, county people come, city people come and everyone gets better acquainted. Meetings have already been held at Gardiner, Kerhonkson and Lake Katrine. The programs given by the Chamber of Commerce have been fine and have been so voted by all who attended.

The fact that so few Kingston people accepted the invitation to come out and become better acquainted with the people of the county has been somewhat disappointing. It is expected, however, that a bumper crowd will find their way to Accord on Wednesday evening. The Accord people most heartily extend this invitation.

OTTINGER DID IT.

The "white collar bandit" has donned the blue working shirt and the crooked stock salesman who a few years ago found New York State a fertile field has gone back to honest work; either that or he has left New York State. This disclosure is made in figures compiled by the Martin Anti-Stock Fraud Bureau which under the direction of Attorney General Albert Ottinger not only drove bucket shops out of existence but cut down the annual pilferings of fake stock promoters and salesmen to virtually nothing.

These compilations indicate that in the last two years fake corporations organized simply and solely for the exploitation of the investing public and capitalized for $300,000,000 have been put out of business by Attorney General Ottinger. This stupendous figure is arrived at by adding up the capitalization of more than 2,500 concerns which were enjoined in court actions by the state's legal officer.

That figure, however, does not tell the whole story by any means. When Attorney General Ottinger appealed to the Legislature for amendments to the Martin Anti-Stock Fraud law that would transform this statute into a veritable bludgeon with which he could pummel the increasing number of fraudulent stock promotions without the hindrance of the legal obstacles that prevented the fullest enforcement of this law, the bucket shops were operating everywhere in New York State. They were garnering from the gullible a total of $55,000,000 annually through entirely fictitious purchases and sales, merely gambling their customers' money. He lost no time in suppressing this outrageous form of fraud. With his activities in this connection the public is very familiar.

The fake stock promotion enterprise which specialized in gold mining stock, fabulous oil gushers, perpetual motion machines, patent medicine schemes, rotary automobile engines that were pictured as new enterprises that would outdo the success attained by Ford and other automobile producers when adopted for use and a score or more of highly attractive but obviously fraudulent devices, all calculated to mulct the public, is on its last legs. Ottinger devoted his time and energy to the task of hammering it into unconsciousness. Wherever and in whatever form it lifted its head, Ottinger pummelled it. He did that job, and did it well.

WAGNER AND TAMMANY.

Probably no man ever spent a day in the legislature who did more for Tammany than Robert F. Wagner. While he was a member of the lower house he never disobeyed an order of the Tammany boss. He was so obedient to Tammany that he was promoted to the senate, where, by faithful service to Tammany, he was finally made president pro tem. Tammany, be it remembered, never rewards without good and sufficient reasons, and that Wagner was given all the recognition that could be bestowed upon him by Tammany proves he deserved all he received.

Robert F. Wagner, while he was in the legislature, never missed an opportunity to vote for measures to help Tammany and hurt Republicans, particularly in farming sections. Had Tammany its way the voters of the remote sections would have been forced to register in person or be disfranchised, or what amounts to about as much. Many of the farmers could not make long journeys to and from voting places twice to be able to vote once. This is one of the pet measures of Tammany, and Wagner was among those anxious to disfranchise the farmer, or practically so, in this manner.

Robert F. Wagner is a Tammany man and proud of it. He is one of those Tammany men who take the position that anything Tammany does, right or wrong, is right. With him it was not an instance of studying the merits of any Tammany suggestion. On the contrary, with his loyalty, anything Tammany recommended he carried out as far as he could as a Tammany man. This was his determination from the day he reached Albany to become a member of assembly and later a state senator, where one of his conspicuous acts was to vote for the impeachment of Governor William Sulzer, whose removal always was accepted as the wishes of the Tammany boss.

Robert F. Wagner is a Tammany candidate for United States senator. He is the wettest candidate running for any office on any ticket. He is a one hundred per cent Tammany Democrat with a one hundred per cent record of being against everything up-state people have wanted. To vote for him would be about the biggest mistake up-state residents could possibly make, and if they do they will realize it eventually, if not sooner, and probably sooner.

A vote for Cristman is a vote for Wagner.

ENCOURAGING THE PLAY INSTINCT.

I have spoken more than once about the recruits who were rejected for war services because their chests were too small. Every one of these young men admitted that he hadn't played much as a boy, and often because his parents were afraid that he would get hurt.

Our health authorities tell us that 80 per cent of children are normal when they are born, but the lack of care, or too much care, is responsible for the great number of children who are underweight, and have physical defects.

A child that is normal will have certain characteristics and it is up to the parents to recognize those characteristics, and to guide the child within safe limits. Prof. Strecker of Philadelphia says that a normal child wants to move about, is ready and willing to imitate, is curious, likes power, and has a vivid imagination. Parents who will not allow their children to play are making a bigger mistake than allowing the child to choose its own food.

The baby in the cradle kicks its feet, later tries to pull itself up on its cot bed, learns to creep and walk, if given the opportunity. And a normal youngster as it gets older will want to play, and to play with other children. In the games it learns to give and take, and if unwilling to do so is shunned by the other youngsters.

He learns to be a leader with some groups, and to be a follower in others. And by playing with other youngsters he develops those other points mentioned above, that is curiosity, imitation, courage, self control and ability to take a hard knock.

Little dogs, kittens, in fact all young animals learn to play or are taught to play by their parents. It is some reflection upon us as humans that many parents dislike their youngsters to be too active, and discourage the play instinct.

So if you want your youngster to be normal, to be able to adjust himself or herself to the life surrounding it, then encourage him or her to play, and to play outdoors.

It will mean physical, mental and moral development.

Pastors Careless In Making Reports

Carelessness and Indifference in Making Parochial Reports Held to Be Largely Responsible for Loss of Third Place by Lutheran Church.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 26.—Carelessness and indifference on the part of pastors in making their yearly parochial reports is largely responsible for the loss of third place among Protestant denominations to the Lutheran church, according to the report of the Statistical and Church Year Book Committee presented today to the convention of the United Lutheran Church in America, claiming that during six years the total loss other than by death and removal amounted to 150,000. The committee pertinently asks: "What has become of them?" It urges a stronger sense of spiritual responsibility and better oversight for a correspondingly smaller number of such unexplained losses. Believing that the method of determining budget apportionments for the United Lutheran Church in America on the basis of confirmed membership, has much to do with the conditions in certain district synods which the committee terms "juggling with created inaccuracy" in reporting on memberships.

A survey has been begun of comparative figures for urban and rural congregations which already shows that of 2,706 active pastors of congregations in the United States 58.2 per cent live in communities of 5,000 or over, 8.4 per cent live in towns of 2,500 to 5,000 population, and 33.4 per cent live in towns smaller than 2,500, or in the open country. The committee proposes to continue the survey of this work until it is able to reach definite conclusions regarding the comparative strength of city and country churches.

Special attention was given to the 1926 United States census, the directors of which have sought the full cooperation of the statistical committee in securing complete and correct data on the Lutheran church in the United States in this connection. The United Lutheran Church in America is supplying the Government Census Bureau with records giving the names and addresses of all known Lutheran congregations in America. This record is being checked with the Census Bureau in order to make its survey complete.

In addition to the task of supplying the up-to-date forms and the gathering of statistics, and for the completing of past records, the committee is charged with the publication annually of the United Lutheran Church in America Year Book, of which the Rev. W. M. Kopenhaver, Emaus, Pa., has been the editor for a number of years. The Rev. George H. Schnur, D. D., of Erie, Pa., will be editor of the 1927 volume.

The committee made its report through Dr. Schnur, chairman, and the Rev. G. L. Kieffer, New York city, secretary-treasurer.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharles.

General Hampton Suffered Defeat by Inferior British Force at Chateaugay, October 26, 1813.

During the first two years of the second war with Great Britain the attempts to seize Canada had been decided failures, and yet the government seemed not to have learned wisdom by dear-bought experience.

The Secretary of War was John Armstrong, who had been an officer in the Revolutionary War and the author of the Newburgh addresses; he had married a sister of Chancellor Livingston, of New York; served as United States Senator from New York 1800-1804, and succeeded his brother-in-law Livingston, as minister at the French court. He was commissioned a brigadier general in July, 1812, and in January, 1813, became Secretary of War in the cabinet of President Madison.

Secretary Armstrong was possessed of a fiery and obstinate spirit. He and Major General James Wilkinson, who was in command of the Northern Department, could not agree.

There was another fiery spirit in the field of New York during the summer of 1813, in the person of Major General Wade Hampton, of South Carolina. He was the largest slaveholder in the republic; haughty and imperious, could not brook official control, and to make matters worse he had been superseded by General Wilkinson.

These old Revolutionary officers, jealous of each other, could not bear with complacency commands from one of their number, which was of decided disadvantage to the service from the beginning of the war, and until they were succeeded by younger men.

When Wilkinson took command of the army of the North in the summer of 1813, military affairs on Lake Champlain and in its vicinity were in a peculiar position. Captain Thomas Macdonough constructed a small fleet but was defeated in the Sorel, and in August the British had seized, plundered and burned Plattsburg, while General Hampton, lying at Burlington, twenty miles distant, made no attempt to oppose the invaders.

Secretary Armstrong directed Wilkinson to command an expedition against Montreal, and ordered Hampton to cooperate with the forces on the St. Lawrence.

Hampton moved forward from Plattsburg in September with 4,000 effective infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and a train of artillery, and on the 24th encamped on the Chateaugay river, near the site of the present village of Chateaugay, where he awaited orders.

At the middle of October the troops destined for Montreal sailed from Sacket Harbor, and at the same time Hampton was ordered to push on to the St. Lawrence, at the mouth of the Chateaugay.

On the morning of October 21, the army commenced its movement down the Chateaugay. An extensive forest, about ten miles in front, blocked up with felled timber, and covered by the Indians and British troops, impeded the progress of Hampton's army.

General Izard was detached with more than one regiment to turn these impediments, and seize the open country below, while the army advanced in a more circuitous route. The measure succeeded, and the main army reached the advanced position of the Chateaugay, the following evening. The several days were employed in getting up the artillery and stores.

The enemy had erected wooden breastworks in a wood about seven miles distant, which was well supplied with ordnance. Hampton placed his Indians in front, and a heavy force in the rear, and on the evening of the 25th Colonel Purdy, with the light troops, was detached to gain the rear of this position, while General Izard made a simultaneous attack in front.

Colonel Purdy being misled by his guide, the attempt failed, and the advance corps retired, with a loss of fifty killed and wounded. Sir General Prevost thus repelled General Hampton with a much inferior force, in the short but sanguinary battle of October 26, 1813. The latter returned to Plattsburg late in November.

Hampton afterward frustrated the attempt on Montreal by his unwillingness to cooperate with his old rival, General Wilkinson.

In the spring of 1814 the enemy invaded Chateaugay and took away a considerable amount of provisions left by the American army.

MORE than 200 million dollars is what it cost the New York Central Lines last year to keep cars and locomotives, roadbeds, tracks, bridges and other property in good repair.

A large portion of this repair bill represented wages paid to New York Central men, who constitute a substantial part of the population of many of the communities on our Lines.

And most of the balance of this outlay went to industries in these cities and towns for the purchase of materials and supplies necessary to the efficient upkeep of the railroad.

The New York Central is a vital factor in the life of the communities along its line, not only as an efficient and dependable carrier, but also as a large employer and a large buyer.

Lift that "YELLOW MASK"

HOW hard you strive for beautiful white teeth. You have used dentifrice after dentifrice. You brush hard and often—yet the veil of yellow remains.

Why doesn't this yellowish tinge disappear? Why can't you have gleaming white teeth?

Here's the answer. In your saliva is a "liquid cement" called Calculus. It glues to your teeth and hardens into a glassy mask. Worse still, it is an absorbent....drinks in coffee, tea and tobacco stains like an absorbing blotter. These give this clinging Calculus that yellowish hue.

Now there is one valuable substance that will remove that mask and give you teeth like polished ivory. Your dentist uses it for cleaning teeth. That substance is "Tri-Calcium Phosphate", a non-gritty, non-scratchy ingredient. It is a veritable miracle worker.

For the first time in dental history this marvelous substance is available in a tasty, pleasant toothpaste—ORPHOS! That means that you can now erase that defiling yellow mask. And have always gleaming white teeth you adore—and others admire. Often in an application!

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

BILLIE'S LAST VISIT

Now Billie Brownie had said he was going to make one last visit to the zoo.

By that he did not mean that he would never again visit the zoo.

Oh, no, not by any manner of means.

But he had been paying a great, great many visits to the zoo of late, talking to the different animals, hearing their stories, of their ways and habits both here and in the zoo.

Some of those who had not told of their ways in a long time and felt they should have a chance once more were given that chance by Billie Brownie.

But now Billie had given many, many, many of them the opportunity for telling their stories.

He had had a most interesting time, too. There was hardly anything he enjoyed more than hearing what the animals did when they were free, and what they did here in the zoo.

He loved animals and he loved being with them.

But he had almost neglected some of his other friends for the animals, and now he must see them.

He wanted to visit more of the flowers and the trees, the good old friends, Mr. Sun and Mr. Moon, and the King of the Clouds and the Army of Raindrops, the Mist grandchildren and Nurse Fog.

He had not seen any of them in a long time and was anxious about it.

"Don't Stay Too Long."

He also wanted to talk to Prince Autumn and old Man Winter, and he wanted to see what children were doing when they played.

He also wanted to send messages by the Breeze Brothers of the happenings in Fairyland.

So he told the zoo animals he would not come to see them for quite a while.

The Camels insisted upon talking to him just before he left, for they wanted once more to tell him how the keeper thought it such a pity that in the winter, when few came around, they had such beautiful long brown hair, and that when summer came they looked so shaggy.

And it was in the summer when the people came and when the children rode upon the camels' backs.

"Well, come and see us before very long," they said as they chewed even while they spoke and moved their mouths from side to side.

"Don't stay away too long," said King Lion.

"Come and see us again," hissed the snakes.

"Don't leave us entirely alone," said the elephants.

"We don't want to be forgotten about," said the tigers.

"Nor do we," said the zebras.

"Nor do we" said Mrs. Hippopotamus.

"Nor do we," said Mrs. Rhinoceros.

"Nor do we," said the members of the Peccary or Wild Swine family.

"Nor do we," said the leopards.

"Nor do we," said the bears.

"I'll be along again before you know it," said Billie Brownie, "but this is my last call for quite a little while.

"But before you know it, really and truly, the time goes by and the time continues to go by, and then you will find I am about once again."

"Good," said the animals as they waved him a good-by.

"And good luck to you," they added, in their different ways.

Looked Like Sheezix's Pa

Billy was a tiny boy, but had been to kindergarten a few days where a great big fat boy had pushed him down hill. He was in the car with his grandmother later when all at once he jumped up and shook her and said, "Look, grannma, look quick. That's the boy what hurt Billy, the one that looks like Sheezix's pa."

Know Any Others?

There is a word in the English language the first two letters of which signify a male, the first three a female, the first four a great man and the whole a great woman. The word is "heroine."

No Incentive

Employer—Sam, I hear you and George almost had a fight?

Sam—Yawah, boss, we all would 'a' had a terrible fracas, only there wasn't nobody there to hold us apart.

Ah, Yes!

Customer—Which leather makes the best shoes?

Shoe Salesman—I don't know, but banana skins make the best slippers.

He Never Welcome

Though it be honest, it is never good to bring bad news. Give to a gracious message a host of friends—but let blunderers fill themselves when they be hot.—Shakespeare.

GAS BUGGIES—Sweet Dreams.

Search Woods for Young Attorney

Watertown, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—A small army of searchers who combed the woods until darkness yesterday, this morning resumed their effort to find Lloyd Scanlon, young Watertown attorney, who is believed lost in the dense woods in the town of Worth, Jefferson county. Scanlon went into the woods Sunday to hunt deer with a friend but failed to rejoin his companion at the appointed place at sundown, and has not been seen since.

The woods in that sparsely inhabited section are dense and abound with deer and bear. Searchers fear that Scanlon may have been attacked or shot or has succumbed to exposure. A cold rain fell all Sunday night and last night was cold and windy and today there were sleet storms. Among the 150 searchers who are beating the woods are Watertown friends of the young attorney as well as experienced woodsmen and farmers. They are making their headquarters at the tiny settlement of Diamond.

FARM PRODUCTS BEING SHIPPED

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 26. (Special).—Our railroads of late have been carrying more farm products than for some months. Weekly freight car loadings have been showing up better for several months, and there is no doubt but what products our farming communities are buying and selling have much to do with this situation.

The late crops to a large extent have avoided any curtailment that might be expected on account of unseasonable weather or early frosts. During the next few weeks there will be irregular and even weak prices for some farm products. This is always inevitable.

But there seems no danger of any further radical slump in the prices of farm products, for the great shakedown of the past year has been too significant.

C. E. Union Holds Co. Convention

Christian Endeavorers Hold Thirty-fifth Annual Convention at Phoenicia—Opposed to Referendum—Highland Wins County Trophy—Officers Elected.

(Official Report.)

An enthusiastic gathering was held at Phoenicia on Saturday, October 23, when the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union held its 35th annual convention in the Phoenicia Baptist Church. Much enthusiasm was manifested and the convention was greatly enjoyed by all. The theme of the convention was "Workers With Christ" and all the speakers throughout used this subject in the presentation of their addresses.

The first session which began at 9:30 was called to order by the president, L. C. Dixon, of the Hurley Reformed Church, after which an inspirational song service was held in charge of R. B. Longyear, a talented musician of the Phoenicia Church. This was followed with a devotional service, then the Rev. A. J. Coffey, pastor of the entertaining church, in a very happy vein welcomed the delegates to Phoenicia, this being responded to by President Dixon.

Advises Against Referendum.

The Rev. W. A. Dalton, the popular and talented pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church, in his usual masterful and attractive manner, gave an inspiring address in which he made mention of the question of another war and the question of the referendum that is to be submitted to the voters this fall, and charged us as Christians to do something against it. After this a roll call of the societies was held and showed a large representation present. Then came the Christian Endeavor School of Methods led by the Rev. A. S. Cole, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Kingston. The various phases of Christian Endeavor under the topics of C. E. and Community, the Church, the Bible and the Pastor and were ably handled by the Rev. G. Van Tol, of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church, the Rev. John Neander of the Saugerties Reformed Church, and J. W. Frankel, of the Baptist Church of Saugerties. This hour was of great interest to all and many excellent points were brought out by the speakers, each one handling their subject in a most masterful manner. After which adjournment was had and basket or box lunches were eaten together, the Phoenicia and Chichester Societies furnishing coffee and also sandwiches to any who had forgotten their "box lunch".

Interesting Addresses in Afternoon.

The afternoon session opened with a convention song which was sung to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia".

This was followed by a devotional service in charge of the Rev. Mr. Skidmore, pastor of the M. E. Church of Phoenicia. Junior exercises were then held by the Junior Endeavorers of the Blue Mountain organization and their singing was greatly appreciated by everyone and it certainly showed careful preparation by their superintendent. Miss Ruby Cure, county junior superintendent, then spoke very effectively on "Why Have a Junior Society." Following this Echoes of the Saratoga Convention were given, these being under the leadership of Milton P. Townsend of the First Dutch Reformed Church of Kingston, and were participated in by Mrs. M. E. Maynard, Edwin Hummell, J. W. Frankel and President Dixon. This was enjoyed by all and showed that the convention was not only an inspiration for delegates but that the ideas there gained are of unmeasurable benefit and react toward the efficiency of each individual society. Then Mrs. M. E. Maynard urged everyone to go to the Syracuse convention in 1927. This was followed by two well rendered violin selections by Victor Shrader of Woodstock and this young Endeavorer showed exceptional musical talent.

Finances and Routine Business.

County Treasurer A. J. Longyear then in his usual happy manner secured pledges from the various societies represented for the maintenance of the work in the county. After this C. A. Raschke, an ex-president of the Union, gave in his usual inspiring manner a brief but helpful address, he being unable to be present and take part in the morning program.

After this the business session was held at which time reports were received from the secretary and treasurer both of which show the organization to be in a flourishing condition. There were three new societies organized the past year. The Rev. G. Van Tol extended an invitation from the Stone Ridge Society to meet with them in 1927, which invitation was accepted.

Resolutions Adopted.

The committee on resolutions reported as follows:

By the Rev. W. A. Dalton:

Recognizing the referendum on the question submitted to the state to give power to each state to define for itself the percentage of alcohol to be permitted in beverages, as a piece of wet propaganda,

Recognizing this referendum as an effort to secure the evasion and nullification of a part of the Constitution which would remain unrepealed and unmodified,

Further recognizing that a weak dry vote will be a source of encouragement to the liquor force,

We, therefore, Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union in session met at Phoenicia, N. Y., on this day, October 23rd, 1926, believe that the advice of certain dry organizations should be disregarded and that at the next election our citizens should vote an unmistakable "No" on the question submitted.

By J. W. Frankel:

That the delegates of this convention express their appreciation and gratitude to the members of the Phoenicia Church and the Chichester and Phoenicia C. E. Societies for the exceptional and generous entertainment provided in connection with this, the 1926 convention of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union.

Officers Elected.

The nominating committee, consisting of Rev. H. I. Todd, Mrs. M. E. Maynard and Lester E. Decker, reported and the report was accepted and officers were elected and installed as follows: President, L. C. Dixon, Hurley; first vice president, Edwin Hummell, Port Ewen; second vice president, Burton Clum, Katsbaan; recording secretary, Milton P. Townsend, Kingston; corresponding secretary, Ruth Vredenburgh, Kingston; treasurer, A. J. Longyear, Phoenicia; pastoral councilor, the Rev. W. A. Dalton, Highland; superintendents: Conventions and rallies, Mrs. M. E. Maynard, Highland; quiet hour and evangelism, Rev. A. J. Coffey, Phoenicia; extension W. W. Brady, Jr., Kingston; junior, Ruby Cure, Blue Mountain; good citizenship, J. W. Frankel, Saugerties; missionary, Miss Kate Clearwater, High Falls.

Then came one of the most inspiring addresses from the lips of the Rev. Ernest Clapp, D. D., of New Paltz, who spoke on the "Need of the Hour", in which he stressed the need of every Christian voting as Christ would have them do. He showed us that religion and politics do and should mix.

Adjournment was then taken and a most delicious dinner was served by the Phoenicia and Chichester Societies and to which full justice was given by all.

Highland Wins Trophy.

The evening session opened with a song service, then prayer by the Rev. A. J. Coffey. President Dixon then presented the trophy or Christian Endeavor shield to the Highland C. E. Society which had 19 registered delegates making a total of 1,694 miles to their credit. This trophy if held for three consecutive years becomes the property of the society having the most miles to their credit. Highland young people secured this in 1925 and are determined to have it next year so they can keep it as their own. A musical number was then given by the Chichester Society. An impromptu address which was given by the Rev. A. Skidmore on "Chums" was greatly appreciated. The closing number was an illustrated lecture, "On the Road to China", given by the Rev. H. I. Todd of Woodstock and was greatly enjoyed, all the pictures having been taken by Mr. Todd while a missionary in China.

The Mispah benediction closed the convention: "May the Lord watch between me and thee while we are absent one from the other."

National Court League Standing

Greenpoint-Trenton Outfit Leads League With Five Straights—Celtics Will Be Here Wednesday Night.

The National Basketball League has started off the 1926-1927 season in an auspicious manner by permitting the strong Greenpoint-Trenton combination to assume a commanding lead due to their winning five straight games. Unquestionably this team shapes up as the best conditioned outfit in the circuit and it has secured the jump on the rest of the entrants, due in large measure to this fact. However, the Celtics and Brooklyn teams are close behind and promise to get going properly this week. Ridgewood-Orange and Newburgh-Jersey City quintets made impressive showing of their ability which needs but little more experience to be welded together into formidable contenders. The last two named teams have been slightly handicapped by reason of the fact that their members have not been as fortunate in getting together as often as the three leaders.

Paterson-Kingston, with its all star lineup, consisting of Benny Borgman, Harry Riconda, Harry Knoblauch, George Artus, Nick Harvey, Fritz Knothe, Mickey Husta and Rider, makes its initial start at Kingston on Wednesday evening against the Celtics. This game is to be broadcast over the air through Station WDBZ of Kingston, and the facilities of the station have been provided by the Kingston Oil Company. The contest at Kingston starts at 8:30.

On Saturday night at the 71st Regiment Armory, New York, the Original Celtics will take on the league leading Greenpoint-Trenton team in the opening exhibition of the world's champions in their New York city home.

Both Jersey City and Orange will start their home seasons in the spacious armory courts in both cities on Thursday evening of this week.

President O'Brien has fined Greenpoint for appearing late at Newburgh last Saturday night, and has also placed a penalty of $10 each on players Anderson and Kellett of Greenpoint and Trenton respectively for becoming embroiled in a mixup. The attitude this season is to be very strict at all times on the late starting of its ball games, and the referees have been instructed to report any infractions of this rule. The league officials will not stand for rowdy tactics on the part of the players and constant penalties will be inflicted on the wrong doers, with ultimate suspension and loss of pay if indulged in too frequently, as the point has now been reached where the large army of fans have evinced little if any interest in needless mixups, or crabbing to the referee.

NEW ROXY THEATRE

Opening Date Approaches

THE steel work and masonry are completed. Equipment and decoration of the new structure at 50th St. and 7th Ave.—in the heart of New York's theatre district—are rapidly progressing. Soon the world's largest and most beautiful Motion Picture Theatre will be open.

"Roxy"—the leading showman of the country—will undoubtedly surpass in his own giant modern theatre his financial and artistic successes while directing the Strand, Rialto, Rivoli, and Capitol. His ten million dollar house, he believes, will take in five million dollars a year.

Roxy wishes the people to share in the profits of his great enterprise. For the first time you have an opportunity to be one of the owners of a great Motion Picture Theatre in New York.

We offer for investment units of stock that make you one of the owners. Class "A" stock is entitled to cumulative preferred dividends of $3.50 per share per annum and participating dividends with the common stock to the extent of an additional $3.00 per share. Dividends of about $3.00 have already cumulated.

With each 3 shares of Class "A" stock, you will be given free 1 share of Common stock.

The Class "A" stock will yield at current prices about 10% yearly in preferred cash dividends, and participating dividends may increase this yield substantially.

Conservatively estimated yearly net earnings amount to $2,400,000, or about three and one-half times the requirement for the Class "A" preferred dividends. This indicates approximately $4.00 available each year for dividends for each share of Common Stock, which has cost you nothing and already has a real market value. The Theatre reaches its full earning power immediately upon opening.

Based on appraisal of the property, the value of the tangible assets amounts to over $45 for each share of Class "A" stock.

Increase of market value of Roxy stocks should be great when the Theatre is opened. Moreover, 15% of net earnings after preferred dividends must be used to retire Class "A" stock which is not callable for less than $50 per share. The Corporation has agreed to make application in due course to list the shares on the New York Curb Market.

Common stock of the Balaban & Katz theatrical enterprise in Chicago, which was given away like Roxy Theatre's Common Stock as a bonus, returned over $400 a share to investors, and the equity ownership of such theatres as the Rivoli, Rialto, Strand and Capitol has likewise proved tremendously profitable

Events Around The Empire State

(By the Associated Press.)

Jack Sharkey, challenger of Gene Tunney, was a peace-loving youngster during his school days in this city, says Miss Anna Stone, principal of the Binghamton school in which the young heavyweight learned his reading, writing and 'rithmetic. Sharkey now makes his home in Boston, but was born in the Southern Tier City and spent his boyhood there. Growing up in one of those districts where lads settle their arguments with fists instead of by parental arbitration, Jack was never one to force battle, it is said, although he was always able to protect his rights without summoning police assistance

"Jack was a quiet, unassuming lad," recalls Miss Stone, "and always attended to his own business. He never showed any volition to quarrel. He may have had a few battles, as all real school boys do, but I never heard of them. I feel proud of my former pupil, and have followed his career eagerly, awaiting the time when he would reach the top in the championship list."

Sharkey's former schoolmates affirm that as a lad the boxer was not of the pugnacious type. They assert, however, that when he was forced into a fight it was invariably a one-sided affair, with the result that his scraps were few.

A late echo of the World War is to be heard at Watervliet on Tuesday when the auctioneer's hammer falls on the property known as the Watervliet Arsenal Extension. The parcel, comprising twelve acres suitable for an industrial site, 137 city lots and twenty-one dwellings, was acquired by Uncle Sam when the production capacity of the big munitions works on the Hudson was extended The sale was directed by the War Department.

Nearly two score cities and villages along the Mohawk river and its tributaries have organized the "Mohawk Valley Towns Association" as an instrument with which to boost their section of the state. Members of the organization include community and civic service associations, newspapers and advertising and automobile clubs in Oneida, Herkimer, Montgomery, Fulton and Schenectady counties. The purpose of the association is to "advertise the valley's agricultural, transportation, industrial and living advantages, the scenic, historical, recreational and picturesque features of the Mohawk valley and to attract motor tourists over the Mohawk Turnpike and other valley roads."

The University of the State of New York is making elaborate plans for its 62nd convocation to be held in Chancellors Hall in the Education Building at Albany on Thursday and Friday of this week. Four honorary degrees are to be conferred and several prominent educators are to speak.

Well Told Tales Of Childhood Days

"Six Little Pidgeons and How They Flew" Might be But is Not the Title of Mrs. Searing's New Book For Children.

A noteworthy new book for children is "When Granny Was a Little Girl," published by Doubleday, Page & Company. The author is Mrs. A. E. P. Searing of this city. Although intended for children about 10 years of age, grown-ups will read the book with interest. Because it is about real flesh and blood children, who were neither prigs nor budding angels, the book is interesting, amusing and convincing. There is neither a serious minded but sloppy Rollo, nor a tiresome Uncle George to be pedantic and informing, the morals are obvious and so the author does not need to and does not moralize by seeking to teach lessons in ethics, religion or deportment. While not tediously so, the stories are instructive and wholesome and there are thrills in plenty, but they are not planned for and led up to in the usual manner of fiction. There is no plot, no tragedy, no made to order comedy, but there is real and entertaining child life in abundance.

Much of this is accounted for by the fact that the book is frankly autobiographical, the story of the life of a little girl in a well-to-do family some fifty years or more ago in and around Saugerties, one of a family in which there were six very human and very lively children who got into mischief, disobeyed their parents, quarreled, made up, and were just a lot of active youngsters who were alive and natural every minute. Once they went to New York and saw General Tom Thumb. Sometimes they went on picnics or entertained visitors. They had their comedies and tragedies of child life. Always they were active and alert, as real children are. But for the Pepper family having pre-empted that style of title, the book might well have been entitled "Six Little Pidgeons and How They Flew." The book is normal, healthy, entertaining, simple without being silly and will tend to build character but without pointing morals or preaching sermons. The only mystery in it is: Did Anne ever learn to spit like Old Staples?

Probably the local book stores will carry the book in stock and may be persuaded to sell it.

A Non-Partisan Judiciary

In the Third Judicial District comprising the Counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Schoharie and Sullivan there are seven Justices of the Supreme Court.

All of them are Republicans.

The last Democratic Justice of the Supreme Court to have been elected in this District was Judge James A. Betts, elected in 1898.

Neither party should have a monopoly of all the Supreme Court Justices in the Third Judicial District.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—Heavy buying of the high grade railroad shares early this afternoon turned the course of stock prices upward after an early period of dullness and irregularity featured by the renewed selling of the steels, motors and chemicals. The sudden demand for the rails coincided with the publication of another series of favorable September earnings statements, including Union Pacific which showed an increase of over $715,000 in net over the same month last year, and Rock Island, which showed a gain of over $300,000 in net.

Norfolk and Western was bid up three points to 169½ before the end of the third hour on the prospects of an extra cash dividend of $2 at today's meeting of the board of directors. Atchison, Chesapeake and Ohio, Louisville and Nashville, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific also recorded substantial gains.

General Motors, United States Steel common and several other motors and steel sold down a point or two on a renewal of selling pressure but rallied with the rest of the list in later trading. Despite official denials of a merger of the Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck mail order companies, both stocks were strong, the former advancing nearly five points and the latter two. Gas, tobacco and food shares also presented several points of strength.

New low levels for the year were registered by International Agricultural Chemical common and preferred National Cash Register, U. S. Smelting preferred and Worthington Pump preferred "B".

With brokers' loans reduced over $150,000,000 in the last two weeks, and no sizeable increase in commercial borrowing, the supply of funds in the call money market was relatively large. Prompt subscription was reported of the $50,000,000 American portion of the $100,000,000 Belgian government loan, indicating that there was still a large volume of funds seeking investment.

Industrial Home Children at Party

Thanks to the generosity of the Men's Community Club of Stone Ridge, it was possible for a number of the children of The Industrial Home to have a most delightful time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hardenberg at Stone Ridge on Saturday afternoon last. Twenty-six of the youngsters and three matrons were taken in the High Falls-Stone Ridge auto bus to the Hardenberg home where they were made welcome by Mr. and Mrs. Hardenberg, Miss Hardenberg and Cornelius Hardenberg.

It was a great treat for the children to visit in such a delightful old Colonial home and in addition they were allowed to go nutting and have just all the nuts they could gather from the ground. There will be poor picking for the squirrels at Stone Ridge after that picnic. After the nutting time the children returned to the house, where a long table had been set in the charming old dining room, autumn leaves and flowers being the centerpiece.

The children sang their customary "Grace," and then made away with quantities of pop corn, candy, big red apples, hot cocoa and sandwiches, while Miss Craft, Mrs. Nicholas Ross Osterhoudt, Mrs. Clifford Basten and Miss Margaret Hardenberg assisted in seeing that no child went hungry. Each child also received from Mrs. Rudolph Haerer a book, candy and cookies.

In spite of all the delicious "eats," the children were perfectly able and delighted to give three rousing cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Hardenberg and all who had helped to give them such a joyous afternoon before they were bundled into the auto bus and returned to The Home, so happy that they were scarcely tired.

Merger of Largest MailOrder Houses

Government Sanction Will Be Sought For the Merger of Sears, Roebuck and Company and Montgomery, Ward and Company.

Chicago, Oct. 26 (AP).—A new corporation with assets of $235,000,000 and an annual business of more than $450,000,000 is seen by La Salle Street in plans for the merger of Sears, Roebuck and Company, and Montgomery, Ward and Company, the two largest mail order houses in the country.

Informal negotiations, conducted by the largest interests of both concerns for several weeks, have now reached a point where government sanction will be sought, Chicago newspapers said today. It was understood that the tentative project was laid before Secretary of Commerce Hoover during his visit to Chicago last week, and that the proposal would be necessary to the Federal Trade Commission this week.

The plan, according to La Salle Street's information, is the formation of a new corporation to absorb the present companies, with an exchange of stock of the new concern for that of the old companies.

Financial observers estimated the merger would effect a saving of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year in operating expenses.

The outlay now made by both houses for catalogues alone runs between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

The largest interest in Sears, Roebuck is held by Julius Rosenwald, with La Salle Street estimating his holdings around three-quarters of the 4,200,000 shares of no-par capital stock outstanding with a current market value of nearly $164,000,000. The largest interest in Montgomery, Ward is held by the J. P. Morgan, First National group of New York, and is estimated at one-third of the 1,141,251 shares of $10 par common stock outstanding, with a market value of $25,000,000.

Heavy Wind Blew Down New House

The heavy wind storm that broke over Kingston and vicinity on Monday did considerable damage elsewhere. The frame work of a story and a half frame dwelling in the course of erection by Joseph Yerry, contractor and builder of this city, and located at West Hurley near the turn of the state highway to Woodstock, was blown from its foundations and wrecked.

A dozen apple trees were blown down on the Pratt Boice farm near the Neighborhood road, Lake Katrine. One of the limbs of a tree blown over knocked off a chimney on the house. Mr. Boice estimated his damage at $250.

At Old Hurley a large tree on the village street was blown down and the garage on the Watson Freer summer home blown over.

Jailed on False Pretense Charge.

Joseph Mazziconi, twenty-five, a resident of West Camp, is in the Greene county jail, Catskill, charged with obtaining money under false pretense. At one time a young man answering the description of Mazziconi represented himself as a son of Joseph Mayone, the brick manufacturer, and borrowed money from several of the prominent citizens of Catskill. At another time the same youth pretended to be a collector for St. Mary's Church at Cementon. Mazziconi was arrested after an investigation by Chief of Police Ryan and Officer Hines following a number of complaints by Catskillians who had been victimized.

$100 For Auto, $1,000 for Wife

Jury Gives Verdict in Favor of Charles Stratton and His Wife—Other Cases Tried—Supreme Court Trial Term Ends.

The negligence action brought by Charles Stratton and his wife against Mahlon Thomas was concluded in the supreme court Monday afternoon and sent to the jury. The plaintiff claims that the Thomas car, driven by Mrs. Thomas, crossed the road near Bearsville on October 21, 1924, and crashed into his car, causing damage to the car and severely injuring his wife when she was thrown from the car.

Witnesses testified that after the cars came to a stop the Thomas car was to the left of the road sufficient to allow traffic to pass to the right and around the wrecks.

This morning a verdict in the sum of $100 as damages to the car and $1,000 for personal injuries to Mrs. Stratton was handed up by the jury.

Miss Roberts Awarded $1,000.

An action brought by Frances Roberts against John Trocher to recover under a contract for partnership work on a farm owned by plaintiff in the town of Lloyd resulted in a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $1,000. The farm was worked on shares. There was no appearance on the part of defendant. Andrew J. Cook appeared for plaintiff.

No. 80, Harry B. Elmendorf against George W. Ross, an action for alienation of affections, was put over the term on payment of term and witness fees by defendant.

$245 for Damages to Auto.

A verdict was returned in the sum of $245 for damages to an automobile of Michael Gallagher in an undefended action brought against Alfred Lyons. Gallagher's car was damaged in a collision at Broadway and Cedar street on July 4, 1925, when the defendant's Ford car hit it. Roscoe V. Ellsworth, of Brinnier, Canfield and Ellsworth, appeared for the plaintiff.

Judgment Against Rider.

Judgment in the action brought by E. Winter's Sons, against Weston H. Rider was signed. Testimony was taken several days ago but on account of the withdrawal of Amos Van Etten as attorney for Mr. Rider the court held the case open for a time in order to allow Mr. Rider to secure another lawyer and defend the action. He made no appearance and the judgment against him and in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $213.46 was signed.

Railroad Wins Freight Suit.

A verdict in the sum of $298.82 in favor of the New York Central Railroad Company against Fred C. Smith, defendant, was found when Amos Van Etten, who appeared for the railroad, asked for judgment on the papers. The railroad claimed to have that amount due for freight on a car load of metal assigned to the Saugerties Foundry Company, operated by Smith. The claim in the answer was that a firm in New York was to pay the freight charges. The transaction took place in June, 1920.

Court was then adjourned by Judge Hasbrouck to November 3, at chambers. Jurors were paid by the clerk and excused for the term.

Most Legislators Seek Re-election

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 26 (AP).—Nearly 84 per cent of the members of the 1926 legislature want to return to their seats in the Capitol this winter. Forty-one of the fifty-one members of the Senate and 126 of the 150 assemblymen are seeking re-election on November 2.

Only two candidates for re-election were defeated at the fall primaries. They were Assemblymen Jasper W. Cornaire of Jefferson county and Webber A. Joiner of Wyoming county. Both are Republicans.

New Mahogany For Andrews

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP).—General Lincoln C. Andrews will have his mahogany furniture—government economy agent or no government economy agent.

The chief of the prohibition forces moved today into new offices at the treasury, and they were furnished with some new mahogay despite a ruling by the government co-ordinator that furniture of that kind was too expensive for government offices.

Informed that mahogany is used by all other assistant secretaries in the cabinet and cost less than $10 more than that prescribed by the economy agent, General Andrews apparently proceeded on his own initiative. He made no comment on the new furniture today other than to remark that it is mahogany.

Find Mutilated Body of Teacher

Toledo, Ohio, Oct. 26 (AP).—The mutilated body of Miss Lily Croy, 26, teacher at Gunckel School, was found under the steps of Washington School, early today.

The clothing was torn from the body, which bore marks of criminal assault, Coroner Henzler stated.

Miss Croy left her home last evening to attend a class at Toledo University. When she failed to return her mother, Mrs. Emma Croy, notified the police.

Similarity between the murder of the girl and the mysterious murder and clubbings which terrorized Toledo a year ago is seen by police.

Church Music In Religious Life

The Kind Which Becomes Disturbing Element to Devout Worshippers Denounced by Committee of United Lutheran Church.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 26.—Church music which becomes a disturbing element to devout worshippers because the churches have engaged organists who are indifferently trained or lacking in culture and understanding of the history of church music is sharply denounced by the committee on church music in a report read to the biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church here.

Choirs which dominate the musical part of the worship and try to entertain the congregation while giving them little chance to praise God through the medium of hymns and liturgical responses, also come in for a good share of the committee's disapproval.

The committee calls attention to the importance of church music in religious life and asserts that such music should be in the care of devoted and adequately trained musicians. Moreover, the committee urges that music, both sacred and secular, should be seriously cultivated in colleges and theological seminaries of America, adding that the Church of England began this cultivation early in its history, with the result that it produced many notable church musicians and enriched the repertoire of church music with many fine compositions.

Organists Are Untrained.

Commenting upon present conditions, the committee says:

"At present churches are often obliged to engage organists who have had only the most indifferent musical training, who have no cultured taste, no knowledge of the history of church music, and little or no understanding of the liturgy and its requirements. No wonder that, under conditions like these, the music, instead of being an aid to devotion, often becomes a disturbing element to really devout souls.

"The great and necessary change will not come until we train our own organists not only in the technique of organ playing, but also in such important branches as the church's liturgy; the music of the liturgy and its proper rendering; the hymn and the congregational hymn tune; choir music; choir training; the organ in public worship, etc.

"Then, too, congregations that wish to develop their worship to the highest spiritual degree, must be willing to pay such carefully trained organists and choir leaders a salary sufficient to enable them to give their best and fullest service to the church.

"Men entering the ministry should also have had the opportunity to learn enough of music to play a simple church or Sunday school service, or, at least, to have acquired enough good taste to enable them to cooperate intelligently with a well-informed organist.

"To obtain properly qualified and musical pastors, the solution should therefore begin in our educational institutions, above all, in the theological seminaries."

Swedes and Norwegians Lead.

Referring to the fact that the Northwestern University, at Evanston, Ill., received recently a gift of $100,000 to establish a course in church music, the Lutheran committee asks:

"What are we doing? Who will be the first to establish and endow a department of church music in one of our theological seminaries? In our own land the Swedes and Norwegians have set an example at Bethany and St. Olaf's that might well be emulated by other church institutions. The school of music connected with Wittenburg College, at Springfield, O., is beginning to render the church a genuine service in the attention it gives to church music, especially to the training of organists."

The report which is regarded as an important contribution to present day commentaries on church music, is the product of the Rev. J. F. Ohl, Mus.D., D.D., of Philadelphia, as chairman, and the Rev. Gomer C. Rees, D.D., secretary of the committee.

Named From Human Body

The Anglo-Saxons gave names to many localities from the supposed resemblance to parts of the human body, as, headland, a neck of land, a tongue of land, the mouth of a river, the brow of a hill, the foot of a hill, an arm of the sea, and so on. Battersea was once known as Peter's eye, or Peter's island; Chelsea was Chelse-eye, and Bermondsey was Bermonds-eye, all of them having been originally islands.

Pernicious Insect Pest

The Argentine ant, which takes its name from the country where it was first discovered, has a fondness for flesh and is said to have been known to attack babies in their cradles. In some instances the wounds proved fatal. This ant is one of the worst known insect pests, and when they once invade a locality it is almost impossible to get rid of them.

Etiquette Constant Problem

Proper manners are set by the leaders of every age in history, and yet "high society" is hardly less guilty than the lower social orders at times. The situation became so bad during the reign of Louis XIV in France, who [illegible] poor eating manners, that books of instruction were issued then as now. At one time the fork was held "indecent."

On Fashions

The Smartest Evening Wraps Incline Toward a Generous Use of Velvet and Are Ample in Line, But Are Not Always Full Length.

An evening wrap is one of those necessities the purchase of which entails considerable outlay, but, after all, what gets more usage of one is in the social stream? It must suggest luxury, or its mission is not fulfilled.

Velvet is the first choice for the autumn and winter wrap; velvet with fur, velvet with feathers, velvet elaborately corded or quilted, and, maybe, ruched around the neckline, so that fur or feathers are superfluous. While most of the modish evening wraps are vividly colored, many distinguished women prefer the elegance of black; provided, of course, it is dashingly lined in a brilliant color, or regally lined in cloth of gold or silver.

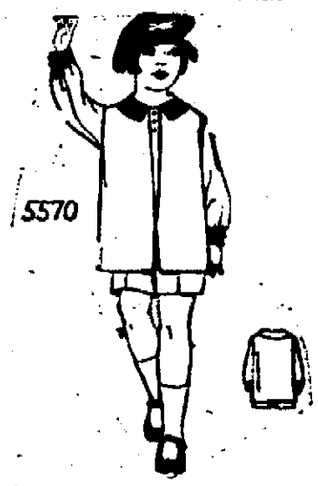

This Wrap Features Black Panne Velvet With Huge Collar of Chinchilla. The Tiered Bottom and the Shirred Top Create an Interesting Diversion.

Naturally, with dolman sleeves the vogue, and capes the fashion, evening wraps are more inclined toward generous wrappy lines than when it was the fad to affect straight-line, simple coats of exquisite texture, but fashioned exactly as one's sports coat might be.

Chanel, who has set the fashion in so many things this and last season, has succeeded in reviving an interest in shirring, which implies cording as well; so that one may have an elaborately shirred evening wrap this winter. Quilting, hardly new, is also evidenced in smart circles, which brings to mind the fact that the quilted lounging robe, be it of crepe satin or taffeta, is a timely and fascinating subject.

Dolman Effects Distinguish Smart Coats and Frocks

One of the most fashionable style developments of the season is the dolman line. It usually means a sleeve that is wide at the armhole and oftentimes includes a bloused back. It is characteristic of many of our most beautiful models, and to coats it gives a luxurious roominess that is youthful and becoming as well as a pleasant diversion from slim straight lines. On dresses the dolman or Vionnet sleeves are frequently embroidered. Let us show you the dolman mode at its best.

A woman too busy to take care of her own health and the health of her family is like a mechanic too busy to take care of his tools.

THE CHILDREN'S DIET

It is not easy to find a formula which will fit all ages of childhood; the following has been well thought out and is a safe guide:

From birth to nine months of age milk should be the only food of the child. Between feedings strained orange and ripe tomato juice may be given after the third month. This supplies vitamines which are needed for growth.

At the age of one year, gruel prepared from long-cooked cereals well-strained and broths from chicken and mutton.

From one to one and one-quarter years, the above with rice, bread, apples baked or stewed.

From one and one-fourth to one and one-half, bread and butter with ripe peaches.

At one and one-half years add baked potato to the above supply.

From one and one-half to two and a half years, increase the amounts of similar foods.

From two and one-half to three and a half, young fresh peas, beans, spinach and occasionally a little chicken, mutton chop, beefsteak or roast of beef.

From three and one-half to five years, eggs and meat on alternate days, light desserts like custard, junket, tapioca and gelatin.

From five to seven years a greater variety of the foregoing foods.

From seven to eleven any of the earlier foods, but more especially the substantial ones. This is the time to cultivate the taste for all wholesome foods, though not many kinds should be served at the same time.

During the ages of eleven to fourteen, the amount of food varies for boys and girls. Girls need about a sixth less food than a boy of the same age. Boys at this age are excessively fond of meat; of this they must not overeat. Girls are likely to undereat.

From the ages of fourteen to eighteen, the food needs of both sexes are those of adult life. Highly seasoned food, late eating, stimulating foods and condiments, and worst of all, strong drinks will ruin the constitution and cripple the whole life.

Eleanor Gunn Says

That unusual treatments and arrangements of pockets are among the style interests of the season, many frocks having patch and other ornamental pockets.

The tiered skirt is often very irregular, both in its drapery and in the number of tiers chosen. These often assume a diagonal line.

London tailors are scoring with the American tourist with their well-made jersey suits. The English term for this material is stockingette, and it comes in any number of unusual patterns.

The much-discussed raised waistline—more discussed than observed, by the way—is sometimes suggested by a placement of tucks; in fact, the so-called high line is nearly always the result of a decorative motif or something that calls attention to one particular part of the waist-line, rather than by raising the entire line.

Some of the more formal gowns being prepared for the more formal occasions are being fashioned of metal brocades rather dark in hue, rich purples and garnets being most frequently seen.

Millinery in more elaborate vein is seen about smart places, with considerable velvet in use, alone or in combination with another material.

Fringe is justifying all that was prophesied for it, and is worn everywhere.

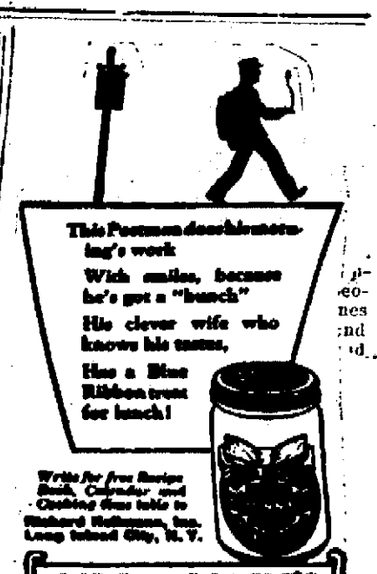

Chiffon and other supple velvets are very much worn, while velveteen is a general favorite for the more ordinary occasion.

Normandy and Breton laces, some in rather deep tones, have been used lavishly for autumn trousseaux.

With all sorts and shapes of blouses being worn, there is naturally more than a suggestion of the Russian influence in present-day street costumes.

How I Dress My Hair

By Ethel Wallace Hopper

The diamonds who see me daily are always wonder at my beautiful hair. It is curly, glossy and abundant. Nearly everyone admires that same wonderful hairdresser gives it daily care.

Not so—I'm too busy for that. I never go to a hairdresser, have never had a "finger wave." I simply apply twice weekly a hair dress which great experts made for me. It is not sticky, not greasy. Before they made it I never dreamed a liquid could do so much. Now all toilet counters supply it as Ethel Wallace Hopper's Wave and Dress. The price is low.

Nothing else I know gives a girl of woman so much added loveliness at once. No one can resist it when she knows. My guarantee comes with each bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

Reduction for Earned Income

Treasury Department Issues Instructions on Computation of 25 Per cent Credit For Earned Income Allowed Taxpayers Under New Revenue Law.

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP).—Instructions on the computation of the 25 per cent credit for earned income allowed taxpayers under the new revenue law were issued today by the Treasury Department.

It is explained that the limit on which this credit may be applied is $20,000 earned net income. The credit can be taken on 25 per cent of the normal tax and 25 per cent of the surtax up to that amount. All incomes of $5,000 and under are declared "earned" for purposes of the credit.

Earned income, the treasury holds, "may consist of salaries, wages, commissions, professional fees and other amounts received for personal services actually rendered, or an amount not in excess of 20 per cent of the net profits derived from a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income producing factors."

"If the business requires only a nominal capital and the income is derived principally from the personal services of the taxpayer, as a director or a lawyer, the entire profits, not exceeding $20,000 may be considered as earned income. Where the income of the taxpayer is derived from capital invested in a business in which no personal service is rendered as in the case of an individual who derives his income from rents and employs an agent to manage his property and collect the rents, the earned income in such case shall not exceed $5,000."

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—A group of bankers, business men and railroad officials are completing plans to give Philadelphia enlarged cold storage facilities, the financing for which will be handled by a syndicate headed by Spencer Trask and Company. Erection of a modern reinforced concrete cold storage warehouse is planned by the Consolidated Cold Storage Company, which will lease part of the new warehouse being built jointly by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Reading Company.

American Hide and Leather reports net loss of $92,775 for the third quarter in contrast to net profit of $156,810 in the same period of 1925 which was equal to $1.41 a share on the preferred For the nine months of 1926, net loss amounted to $240,802 against net profit of $461,923 or $4.18 a share on the preferred in the first nine months of 1925.

Net operating income of the Chesapeake and Ohio for September rose to $3,633,340 from $2,908,180 in September, 1925, and for the nine months this year to $26,540,639 from $22,288,345. September gross gained nearly $800,000. Surplus after charges for the nine months of 1926 rose to $20,494,057 from $14,364,617 a year ago.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

More "dirt in the air" last night was the only thing in the way of good reception. Among the best stations, outside local broadcasters, were WCAE, WSAI, WLW, CFCF and KDKA.

Tonight at 8:45 WGY will broadcast a campaign speech by Charles Evans Hughes.

A Kingston fan who used to declare that he could get little but noise got the correct idea a few weeks ago and began chopping off pieces of his aerial. Every time he chopped off a piece reception improved. He kept it up until only the rather long lead-in was left to indicate where the aerial used to be and is now getting good reception whenever there is any to be had. The volume is less but there is no boiler shop accompaniment and the listener knows what the program is about.

Some day the "experts" who insist on long aerials may get their lesson. That will be at about the same time the blooper learns that there is a limit to the amount of power he can use without impairing his own and ruining his neighbors' reception. Long outdoor aerials are a survival of the days of crystal and primitive regenerative sets and only a few stations. They are not required with modern sets and are a detriment in these days of hundreds of broadcasting stations, making selectivity a necessity. There is little selectivity with a long aerial in use.

Reduction for Earned Income

Treasury Department Issues Instructions on Computation of 25 Per cent Credit For Earned Income Allowed Taxpayers Under New Revenue Law.

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP).—Instructions on the computation of the 25 per cent credit for earned income allowed taxpayers under the new revenue law were issued today by the Treasury Department.

It is explained that the limit on which this credit may be applied is $20,000 earned net income. The credit can be taken on 25 per cent of the normal tax and 25 per cent of the surtax up to that amount. All incomes of $5,000 and under are declared "earned" for purposes of the credit.

Earned income, the treasury holds, "may consist of salaries, wages, commissions, professional fees and other amounts received for personal services actually rendered, or an amount not in excess of 20 per cent of the net profits derived from a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income producing factors."

"If the business requires only a nominal capital and the income is derived principally from the personal services of the taxpayer, as a director or as a lawyer, the entire profits, not exceeding $20,000 may be considered as earned income. Where the income of the taxpayer is derived from capital invested in a business in which no personal service is rendered as in the case of an individual who derives his income from rents and employs an agent to manage his property and collect the rents, the earned income in such case shall not exceed $5,000."

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—A group of bankers, business men and railroad officials are completing plans to give Philadelphia enlarged cold storage facilities, the financing for which will be handled by a syndicate headed by Spencer Trask and Company. Erection of a modern reinforced concrete cold storage warehouse is planned by the Consolidated Cold Storage Company, which will lease part of the new warehouse being built jointly by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Reading Company.

American Hide and Leather reports net loss of $92,775 for the third quarter in contrast to net profit of $156,810 in the same period of 1925 which was equal to $1 41 a share on the preferred. For the nine months of 1926, net loss amounted to $240,802 against net profit of $461,923 or $4.18 a share on the preferred in the first nine months of 1925.

Net operating income of the Chesapeake and Ohio for September rose to $3,633,340 from $2,908,180 in September, 1925, and for the nine months this year to $26,540,689 from $22,288,345. September gross gained nearly $800,000. Surplus after charges for the nine months of 1926 rose to $20,494,057 from $14,364,617 a year ago.

LAST NIGHT on THE RADIO

More "dirt in the air" last night was the only thing in the way of good reception. Among the best stations, outside local broadcasters, were WCAE, WSAI, WLW, CFCF and KDKA.

Tonight at 8:45 WGY will broadcast a campaign speech by Charles Evans Hughes.

A Kingston fan who used to declare that he could get little but noise got the correct idea a few weeks ago and began chopping off pieces of his aerial. Every time he chopped off a piece reception improved. He kept it up until only the rather long lead-in was left to indicate where the aerial used to be and is now getting good reception whenever there is any to be had. The volume is less but there is no boiler shop accompaniment and the listener knows what the program is about.

Some day the "experts" who insist on long aerials may get their lesson. That will be at about the same time the blooper learns that there is a limit to the amount of power he can use without impairing his own and ruining his neighbors' reception. Long outdoor aerials are a survival of the days of crystal and primitive regenerative sets and only a few stations. They are not required with modern sets and are a detriment in these days of hundreds of broadcasting stations, making selectivity a necessity. There is little selectivity with a long aerial in use.
